EXECUCHARTTM

The complete color graphics system. In business, success often depends upon effectively communicating information. Corporate decision-makers recognize the need to transform mountains of available data into meaningful and useful information.

The Execuchart System helps fill that need by offering an affordable way to communicate information through presentation-quality charts and graphs.

Pre-designed, pre-coded charts and graphs are accessible at the speed of a computer. The Execuchart console, with its color screen and processor, communicates with you in easy-to-use, English language terms. You communicate with Execuchart via the "mouse." Together, information displays are created—easily, quickly and effectively.

It's a complete graphics management information system.

Create a full-color image in minutes. Traditionally, it has taken days, even weeks, to create color charts and graphs for presentation. Execuchart reduces the time involved in the chart creation-revision-production process to a fraction of the original time needed.

With Execuchart, you can create innumerable charts and graphs, using the already pre-programmed Execuchart images as a guide. The Execuchart System will automatically create the chart graphics you select, pausing for specific data and text. In moments, your completed chart is displayed on the screen, in full-color, ready to produce or modify as you wish.

change colors, edit data or text. All with the touch of a button. In no time.

Save images for update and review. To save your images on The Execuchart System, just assign each one a name or title. It will be stored in the console for you where there is space for several thousand more.

At any time, you can recall your stored image. In a matter of seconds, it is available for review and revision. Now you can update in moments without having to start at the beginning. Execuchart adapts itself to your schedule while responding to your need to update and review.

Produce 35mm color slides or color printed copies or color transparencies. Once you have finalized your image, your next step is to select the medium for your presentation delivery. With The Execuchart System, you have a choice: 35mm color slides, color transparencies, color printed copies. You may select one or all three —whichever suits your needs.

You handle the production, or we will...with rapid turnaround. Design your system around your needs. You have the option of adding production equipment to your on-site console to produce the slides, or transparencies, or printed copies in your office. This gives you immediate results with excellent quality.

Maybe you do not want or need the optional production equipment.

In that case, Comshare will handle all the production for you in our Execuchart Production Center which will give you even better-quality results. Just send your images from your console over the Comshare International network to the Execuchart Production Center. Your slides or transparencies or printed copy will be on their way back to you within 48 hours . . . or even sooner if necessary.

And, the security of your data is respected and maintained. All production work is accomplished at our Center; your data does not leave the premises.

Communicate more effectively with The EXECUCHART System.

With today's volumes of data, it is mandatory that information be conveyed more clearly. Graphic presentations have become a major method of communication. And until now, the prohibitive costs, delays and difficulty in making good presentation material have been major obstacles.

With The Execuchart System, you can quickly and easily make colorful, quality visuals for better communication within your organization. And you can do it all in a surprisingly cost-effective manner.
